Dojo Communication

Class Dojo is a really useful tool for many reasons, including communication. When receiving messages through the platform, members of staff will respond at an appropriate time. Please be mindful that if messages are sent on evenings, weekends or holidays, parents should not expect a response at the time. Please wait until teachers are back in school hours for a reply to any messages.

Assembly

This week Boathouse came to CTK to share our assembly. We watched a video and heard all about the wonderful activities the group are offering over the holidays (in our school!!). Look out for the Boathouse flyer and get booked on!

HRSE

Thank you to those parents who have engaged with the consultation document earlier this half term exploring how our curriculum covers aspects of relationship education. This adapted scheme of learning will be launched in the summer term. There are some parents that have asked specific questions and those parents will be contacted individually next week. Thank you for your comments, considerations and suggestions. It has been a useful and effective consultation.

Nursery News

The children have been retelling the story of the hungry caterpillar this week and were excited to see the butterflies come out of their cocoons. They have also been practising their catching and throwing skills in PE and learning all about Easter and the journey Jesus made in RE.

E-SAFETY ALERT TO PARENTS

This is Huggy Wuggy- a sinister character that children are coming across online. Parents are being urged not to let their children watch terrifying TikTok and YouTube videos of the killer teddy. The bear sings about "hugging and killing" and asks those watching to "take their last breath". One line says: "I could hug you here forever, till you breathe your last breath together." It continues: "My teeth sharp and ready, in my grasp, yeah they're deadly."
